

To Whom It May Concern,

On behalf of Lin Hsi Tsao, I am writing this recommendation letter to support his application to your esteemed institution. Being a member of the NTU Creativity and Entrepreneurship Program, Lin Hsi's entrepreneurial mindset and creative problem-solving abilities set him apart from his peers. I was not surprised to see that he completed the program to receive a full mark and a certificate, which was an achievement that further indicated his exceptional productivity and commitment.

Throughout our collaboration, Lin Hsi consistently exceeded my expectation with his professional commitment and competencies. A remarkable listener and communicator, Lin Hsi liaised seamlessly with other teammates to propose a knowledge-based community platform and outcompeted other contestants during the Startup Cup Innovation and Entrepreneurship Competition hosted by the Chihlee University of Technology, winning third place in the competition. Open-minded and always ready to accept new ideas, Lin Hsi has been a full-fledged leader who established an excellent rapport with his teammates. From collating opinions to settling disputes, Lin Hsi tactfully maintained open communication among his team to present fruitful teamwork.

Self-motivated and ambitious, Lin Hsi has been eager to step out of his comfort zone to develop multidisciplinary skills and thrive as a well-rounded professional. Aside from working as a Campus Ambassador for WeMo Scooter to leverage brand-building strategies to help the company expand audience size, Lin Hsi also took part in the Startup Intern Camp that featured the application of data and won the Best Demo Pitch Award. Lin Hsi's stage confidence and communication skills always allowed him to turn creativity into reality. Enterprising and resourceful as he has been, Lin Hsi actively contributed to various student activities by playing vital roles in each event. His versatile personality and professional expertise have given him the upper hand in completing projects of varying degrees of challenge.

As a solution seeker and a problem solver, Lin Hsi will forge a rewarding career in the future if he could receive your school's excellent instruction. Thus, it is without reservation that I recommend this competent young man to you.

Respectfully yours,
